

BUSINESS INTELLIGENCE

Empowering manufacturers to make better decisions through actionable data.

Harness multiple silos of data and create a single source of reliable information to help improve processes and drive smart decisions—all at your fingertips.

With the help of a powerful tool, business intelligence (BI) gives manufacturers the confidence to trust more decision making to more people across the organization.

One source of truth.

The answers are in there. Somewhere.

As the competition continues to increase for manufacturers, informed decisions must happen quickly across the organization, and business leaders will be expected to provide reliable data to support decisions and prove results.

Unlock the true potential of your data with a business intelligence solution from Wipfli. Collaborating with your key stakeholders, we'll design a BI platform customized for your manufacturing enterprise, giving you a powerful tool to make the right decisions.

The tool is only the beginning. Our consultants work with you to help you ask the right questions, reveal problem areas, and solve issues leading to:

- Better product quality.
- Increased throughput and performance.
- Reduced waste.
- Empowered work teams.
- Improved product and service profitability.

FIERCELY FOCUSED >

WIPFLI^{LLP}
CPAs and Consultants

BUSINESS INTELLIGENCE

Quick, informed decisions.

No more waiting in line for reports from the IT department. No more wondering which data is accurate. Now you can access business intelligence that employees will embrace to make real-time decisions and quickly become more productive.

Business intelligence ensures the integrity of data governance and helps you understand the key drivers of your business to stay competitive and profitable. You'll see continuous improvement across your company, from operations to finance, sales, inventory, and supply chain management.

Quickly identify opportunities and risks. Wipfli combines the most valuable information from your various data systems to show a complete view of your organization and measure your desired key performance indicators.

Using the latest technology, the data necessary for quick decisions can be visually displayed on any mobile device, tablet, computer, TV or traditional report.

Experience. Insight. Empowerment.

We build your BI platform with state-of-the-art business intelligence technology. The tool offers incredibly user-friendly and highly visual dashboards that allow employees from shop floor to back office easy access to the information you need them to see. Team members can instantly view the metrics necessary to determine better processes, which lead to better productivity.

Our subject matter experts help you determine the metrics that will enable you to make quicker, better, and more-informed decisions to shape your success, now and in the future.

The manufacturing and distribution industry is Wipfli's largest and longest-standing practice area. We bring you decades of experience from subject matter experts in manufacturing and distribution as well as business intelligence. You'll benefit from their rich insight, experience, and intuition throughout the entire process.

Improve planning and forecasting.

Measure revenue and profitability with ease.

Enable risk management across global locations and lines of business.

Create new financial controls and consolidate reporting.

Support regulatory compliance governance and reporting.

Build collaboration by eliminating departmental and information silos.

Eliminate redundant information.

Get started today!

See firsthand how a BI solution can help you better understand your data and make smarter decisions. Contact the experts at Wipfli's Manufacturing and Distribution Practice at wipflimanufacturing@wipfli.com for an overview and complimentary consultation.

www.wipfli.com/manufacturing

WIPFLI^{LLP}
CPAs and Consultants